

THIS PAGE: Students attend class at St. Michael School in Aiga.

TOP LEFT: A child naps in a home between Saesa and Idaga Hamus.

BOTTOM LEFT: Priests lead the community in prayer during a mountaintop funeral.

The walls of the classroom are densely decorated with educational materials in Amharic. At the top, there are various small posters and signs, including one with a cow and the word 'አገር' (Country) and another with a rabbit and 'አገር' (Country). Below these, there are larger posters featuring illustrations of animals like a cow, a rabbit, a pig, and a dog, with their names written in Amharic: 'አገር' (Country), 'አገር' (Country), 'አገር' (Country), 'አገር' (Country), 'አገር' (Country). There are also posters with Amharic text, such as 'አገር' (Country) and 'አገር' (Country). On the right side, there are posters with mathematical symbols like less than, equal, and greater than, and the word 'ማዕከል' (Center). At the bottom right, there is a poster with Amharic text and a drawing of a lion.

ino aqua
colore
alla pelle
ra' più
proprietà
alcolico
di ogni
altro

አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር

አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር

አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር

አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር
አገር

A stack of books and papers is visible on the floor in the foreground. The books have colorful covers, and the papers are scattered around them. A blue object, possibly a stapler or a folder, is also visible among the papers.